

SafMannan

FOR EWES AND LAMBS

Safmannan[®] premium yeast fraction that supports immune function in ewes and lambs - proven to aid immune status, improve colostrum quality and increase growth rates.

Safmannan® is a premium yeast fraction rich in mannan-oligosaccharides and β -glucans (1,3 and 1,6).

Mannans have been proven to bind harmful gut pathogens, whilst β -glucans support the immune system, helping the immune system to identify and deal with the threat of infections more effectively.

How does Safmannan® work?

Safmannan® helps to develop and maintain gut health during challenging conditions by:

- Supporting the immune system and binding to harmful gut pathogens such as Salmonella and E.coli
- Reducing ability of pathogens to pass through the intestinal wall by increasing mucus secretions of gut and tight junctions
- Promoting the elongation of the intestinal villi and improving crypt depth, aiding nutrient absorption in the lower gut

What makes Safmannan® different?

- Safmannan® is specifically produced by Phileo by Lesaffre using rigorous processes to separate the yeast cell wall from cell material which is then uniquely dried to increase the products functionality.
- With the same yeast strains grown, dried and processed under exactly the same conditions, Safmannan® consistently contains greater than 20% mannans and 20% β -glucans, resulting in a consistent mode of action with repeatable performance.

What are the benefits of feeding Safmannan® to ewes and lambs?

- Production of higher quality colostrum, increased levels of IgG of up to 25%
- Reduced growth checks during periods of stress and challenges, such as weaning and housing changes
- Supported immune status and better resilience against pathogens

How do I use Safmannan®?

Safmannan® is compatible with all feed milling processes and can be included in compounds, blends and home mixed diets. It can also be included into whole milk and milk replacer.
